Amazing Views of the Valley...

We offer a variety of hikes that bring you to the best vista locations in the Napa Valley! Choose from the following hikes:

Oat Hill Mine

An intermediate trail starting in Calistoga with some great immediate views of the entire valley. This hike is the closest to town and is great for people who want stunning views without too much elevation gain. 2-10 miles

Table Rock

5 mile hike with awesome views. This is a mildly strenuous hike along a quiet trail. In spring the wildflowers abound here! Table Rock itself is a huge flat piece of lava rock from which you get a great view of Mount Saint Helena.

Bothe Park

This state park features the only Redwood trees available to the public in the Napa Valley. Hike up to Coyote Peak for a view of the northern part of the Napa Valley and then return through the Redwoods and along Ritchey Creek.

Mt. Saint Helena

This peak is the Bay Area's tallest, at 4,400 feet. Hike 5 miles up to the Robert Louis Stevenson Cabin and quicksilver mines, then continue towards the summit for the best views of all of Wine Country, the Pacific Ocean, Mt. Shasta, Lake Berryessa, and even the Sierra Mountains. This is for experienced hikers only.
